

AEROBIC PLATE COUNT

The Aerobic Plate Count (APC) indicates the level of microorganisms in a product and can sometimes be used to indicate the quality and spoilage level of the product. Obtaining an estimate of the number of microorganisms in a food product will aid in evaluating sanitary practices during processing and handling, as well as determining potential sources of contamination.